

The Place of Science in Modern Civilisation and Other Essays (Paperback)

By Thorstein Veblen

Theclassics.Us, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 244 x 186 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1919 edition. Excerpt: . WHY IS ECONOMICS NOT AN EVOLUTIONARY SCIENCE?1 M. G. De Lapouge recently said, Anthropology is destined to revolutionise the political and the social sciences as radically as bacteriology has revolutionised the science of medicine. 2 In so far as he speaks of economics, the eminent anthropologist is not alone in his conviction that the science stands in need of rehabilitation. His words convey a rebuke and an admonition, and in both respects he speaks the sense of many scientists in his own and related lines of inquiry. It may be taken as the consensus of those men who are doing the serious work of modern anthropology, ethnology, and psychology, as well as of those in the biological sciences proper, that economics is helplessly behind the times, and unable to handle its subject-matter in a way to entitle it to standing as a modern...

READ ONLINE
[6.64 MB]

Reviews

This publication is indeed gripping and exciting. I could comprehend almost everything using this composed e publication. I am easily could possibly get a delight of looking at a composed pdf.

-- Lynn Lindgren

This is an incredible ebook which i actually have ever go through. This can be for those who statte that there had not been a really worth reading. I am just quickly can get a delight of reading a published book.

-- Ms. Colleen Ziemann V