So far as it is practicable to do this, the information, both on the score of brevity and of economy, is presented in tabulated form, from the various aspects necessary to give to the student as well as the casual reader a complete and comprehensive view of the entire situation. As indicated in the last annual report, there has been, naturally, a marked effect, numerically at least, upon naturalization by the great war. A part of this is readily traceable in the issuance of certificates to those aliens engaged in and honorably discharged from military service during that war. It is, of course, impossible to trace directly to the same cause and report in a separate distinct table the hundreds - perhaps thousands - who, as an indirect result of the same moving cause, have sought and obtained American citizenship. Any doubt upon this point will be removed by a comparison of the figures, given in a table which follows, which show that 166,925 petitions were filed by aliens in civil life during the year. This represents an increase of 55 percent over the number of similar papers filed last year, and an excess of 34,605 over the corresponding figures for 1917, heretofore the banner year in this respect. These figures are exclusive of the 51,972 military petitions filed and certificates issued during the year under consideration. Beyond doubt much of this reported increase results from the...
