For many years this last term has been applied more especially to the disease as it manifests itself in the human being, but even in this case it is a misnomer, and the sooner it is done away with and banished from both scientific and ordinary dictionaries the better. Derived from the two Greek words hudor, water, phobos, fear, it indicates a symptom found in certain cases in man, but by no means invariably, and only rarely met with in dogs and other animals. The apparent dread of all liquids in man is more especially intensified by the fact that all...
